Comments: The lack of victim cooperation has impeded criminal proceedings and disciplinary actions. Analysis of these reported incidents have indicated that incarcerated individuals exploit PREA guidelines to influence their housing and classification status while in custody. The Kern County Sheriff's Office enforces a strict zero-tolerance policy against any instance of sexual abuse or harassment toward our incarcerated population and treats all accusations seriously. Investigations into these matters are thoroughly conducted, regardless of the cooperation from reporting victim.

Facility changes needed, or reasoning if none	No changes are needed at this time. The Central Receiving Facility is used as a court holding facility. Cameras have been installed throughout the facility and units. Video surveillance acts as a deterrent and assists us in detecting and identifying sexual abuse or harassment incidents in all KCSO facilities.
Agency changes needed, or reasoning if none	No specific agency changes are necessary as we continue to meet all standards and reasonable measures are in place to prevent, detect, and eliminate all forms of sexual assault, abuse, and harassment. The PREA compliance team will continue to look for areas of improvement and implement changes as needed.
